Cornelia Strong Residential College

South Spencer Residence Hall est. 1994

Focused on the Liberal Arts and creating a community of scholars around long valued traditions, Strong College provides participants with unique learning experiences in and out of the classroom. In Strong, which features longstanding traditions, such as Tuesday afternoon Tea, Friday Fellows Lunch, the annual Halloween and Valentine's Dances, the fall Croquet Tournament and the Spring Buffalo Creek Regatta, students create a connection to UNCG beyond the classroom.

Warren Ashby Residential College

Mary Foust Residence Hall est. 1970

As the oldest residential college program in North Carolina, Ashby has a strong alumni following and significant connection to UNCG's history as a liberal arts, student-centered teaching college. Featuring unique courses, innovative topics and great mentors, Ashby creates an environment where faculty and students partner in learning.

Ione Grogan Residential College

Grogan Residence Hall est. 1997

The youngest of UNCG's residential college programs, Grogan focuses on exploring specific disciplines and interests tied to general education courses. Groganites, as participants are called, are assigned a faculty mentor and Peer Academic Leader that help new Spartans navigate the University and explore all that UNCG has to offer.
